A Tonic

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE.

A most excellent and agreeable tonic and appetizer. It nourishes and invigorates the tired brain and body, imparts renewed energy and vitality and enlivens the functions.

Dr. Ephraim Bateman, CEDARVILLE, N. J., says: "I have used it for several years, not only in my practice, but in my own individual case, and consider it under all circumstances one of the best nerve tonics that we possess. For mental exhaustion or overwork it gives renewed strength and vigor to the entire system."

THE Art Loan Exhibition in Newberry Hall during the past week has been a decided success. The ladies have undertaken to conduct almost a World's Fair, in petto, but they have managed everything in a most elegant and harmonious style. No one should miss this profuse display of art goods, the collections from ancient, mediaeval and modern times. It is hoped that the Art Loan will net the ladies a large sum for their contribution to the Newberry Hall fund. The exhibition will be continued all next week.

NEXT Saturday is Field Day. The program of events is a long one and the number of contestants is large. The training for these field sports this spring has been carried on regularly and systematically, and we may look for some very exciting contests. The fact that we have had a trainer who has taken a great interest in developing the special powers of those under his instruction, has increased the spirit of rivalry among the contestants and the interest of all the students. We may safely say that this will be the best Field Day we have had for many years. We trust that some excellent records may be made.

THE editor of the Boston Globe has made a liberal offer of a scholarship to the faculty of Harvard University. This scholarship is one to be most heartily commended, as it is in the interest of those students who intend to make journalism their profession. The editor proposes that two scholarships be awarded annually, to such two students as may be designated by the faculty, to be known as "The Boston Globe Scholarships," and each scholarship entitling the graduate to whom it is awarded to one year's free tuition and training in newspaper work, as a member of the staff of the Boston Daily Globe, and the sum of $500, to be paid to him by the Globe towards his living expenses while he is taking such a year's course of newspaper instruction. This certainly affords a practical way for a young man to gain the special training needed for a newspaper career.

LAST evening our base ball team left for their trip of two weeks East. The large crowd at the depot to see the boys off testified to the enthusiastic interest which we all have in our base ball nine. Our record in base ball so far has been a glorious one, and we have little fears of that record being spoiled during the next ten days. The boys are all in good trim and excellent spirits. But these ten days of continuous playing and travel will be a hard, long pull, and twelve very tired, worn-out men will return to Ann Arbor the first week in June. To-day the team plays at Utica with Hamilton College. On Monday they will play at Burlington with the University of Vermont, and Tuesday the great game takes place with Yale, at New Haven. The last game to be played is at Boston, with Harvard, June 1. We only wish that it were possible for a large delegation of the U. of M. to accompany the team and inspire them now and then with the old yell. We all anxiously await the result of the trip and meanwhile our best wishes are with the boys for their success.

THE full announcement of the courses in the Chatauqua College of Liberal Arts for this summer has just been issued. In it are outlined courses in English Language and Literature, German, French, preparatory and college Latin, preparatory and college Greek, Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, History, Political Economy, Geology, etc. These courses are conducted by professors of high standing in some of the best colleges in the country. Yale, Johns Hopkins, Princeton, Amherst, University of Michigan, and other institutions more or less well known are represented in the faculty. The session lasts six weeks. Each course is for five or ten hours each week, some classes meeting once a day and others twice. Besides the college proper, there are several Schools of Sacred Literature. Students are expected to take not more than one or two courses, the concentrated effort being calculated to enable them to accomplish as much in the six weeks as is generally accomplished in one subject in a term in college. The advantages offered are particularly to college students who wish to study in advance of their class, in order to have more time for other duties during term time, or to work off conditions. Ample opportunities are given for recreation and athletic sports. Mr. A. A. Stagg, formerly captain and pitcher of the Yale University nine, will be in attendance and superintend this department.

The Redemption.

No composer of modern times has a more distinct artistic individuality than Charles Gounod. Known to the world as the composer of Faust, he finds the greatest inspiration of his maturer years in religious subjects, so that he now is equally well known as the creator of "The Redemption," and

"Mors et Vita." In the opening measures of "The Redemption," we discover striking and characteristic attributes of his genius. No ordinary writer could have given so perfect a representation of the Creation as we find in the prologue. Beginning a long unison in C, by the strings and brass, pianissimo, in the second measure the wood winds begin series of soft chromatic modulations, while the unison referred to remains undisturbed. These chords finally resolve into the full chord of C, still taken pianissimo. A unison passage for flutes and clarionets introduces a peculiar figure, which beginning in the violas, is gradually taken up by the other strings and leads eventually into a climax on the chord C. This chord taken forte, is hardly appreciated by the ear, before the whole orchestra begins a series of pianissimo chords which gradually sink lower and lower, until reversing the melodic movement, a crescendo is begun which for that time, leading up to the full chord of C, emphasizes its importance, approaching it by a strong cadence, and sustaining it with the full power of the orchestra. The second number in this Introduction contains some beautiful passages for solos and chorus, and describes the Creation of man, Temptation and Fall. Part first opens with recitations describing the condemnation of Jesus, and leads into a remarkable piece of instrumental writing—"The March to Calvary." This describes the march to the scene of the crucifixion, and is interrupted by the choral hymn, "Vexilla Regis prodeunt" ("Forth the Royal Banners go"), sung by female voices, by the words of Jesus to the Holy women, and comes to a glorious climax by the unison of the march by the full power of the orchestra, with the choral given out by full chorus in unison, signifying the strife of Christianity against pagan force. The remainder of this part includes the "Crucifixion," the "Darkness," "Earthquake," and "While My watch I am keeping," a beautiful contralto solo and the wonderful orchestration of the earthquake scene. Part second, "From the Resurrection to the Ascension," open with a prelude introducing antiphonal trumpet calls, and a powerful chorus. The various scenes, "The Holy women at the Sepulchre," Jesus appearing to the Holy women, "The Sanhedrim," Jesus appearing to the apostles and "The Ascension," are full of wonderful vocal and orchestral passages, and it would take a whole number of the CHRONICLE-ARGONAUT to do anything like justice to the effects with which these numbers abound. The beautiful solo "From this love as a Father," and the chorus, "Unfold ye everlasting Portals," are included in this part. A prominent feature in the whole work is the beautiful treatment of the various instruments in the orchestra. No one can fail to be impressed with such a beautiful combination as accompanies the voice of the Angel, at the words—"Why seek ye the living among the dead?" A very original effect is produced by the use of the cymbals, not in the ordinary manner but pianissimo. The bass drum is also used in the same manner, and these instruments which are ordinarily treated as though they were gymnastic appliances for the acquisition of strength, become musical instruments.

The third part, "The Pentecost," opens with the beautiful chorus with piano solo, "Lovely appear." No one can appreciate the beauty of the introduction to this part, who has not heard the orchestral score. The second number, "The Apostles at Prayer," is a melody for the full string orchestra in unison accompanied pianissimo by the wood wind and brass. One of the most beautiful episodes in the whole work occurs at the words of the Narrator, "Lo there came a mighty sound!" This recitative leads with a beautiful and stirring duet for tenor and bass, "At once the Spirit came upon them." The work closes with an inspiring chorus, "Hymn of the Apostles." One of the most magnificent choral effects imaginable is the strong unison of the chorus, "The Word is Flesh become." This unison melody, strikingly like the composer's "Nazareth," develops into a short figure, "He like the Holy Ghost is one with God, the Father." The last thirty measures contain some stupendous harmonic effects. The changes of harmony grow more and more striking, and although within a few measures, an ordinary climax is reached, this will not suffice for Gounod, so he piles climax upon climax, until it seems as though nothing more could be attained, but the next two measures in which the sopranos lead up to A, show us the true climax of the work and we are prepared to appreciate the wonderful dignity and strength of the closing bars.

This work makes a profound impression from its value as a musical composition, but particularly from the fact that in it a sacred subject has been treated in a highly reverential spirit yet, with an appreciation of the dramatic elements in this most tragic of all tragedies and most glorious of all triumphs, and thus appeals to all with equal force.

It is a work by a master, whose whole heart was in his subject, and who was thoroughly in earnest. We are not surprised that the Gounod who wrote this work should have written the "Death and Life," but however much respect one must have for this last work, it is apparent that "The Redemption" will always stand as the most perfect product of Gounod's genius. Not more beautiful musically, than Faust, but infinitely greater, because the subject is greater.

The soloists have been selected with reference to their particular fitness for this work, and we are confident that they will be recognized as singularly adapted to its requirements. Mrs. Walker has a glorious soprano voice, full of dramatic color, thoroughly trained and a broad style which makes her an ideal singer. Possibly no singer in this country has sung this part as often as Mrs. Walker, and she will sing it for the third time in the week at this concert. Miss Stoddard has a very deep and sympathetic voice, suited to the one solo in the work which falls to the contralto. Of the excellencies of Mr. Jordan's style it is not necessary to speak, but our readers may not be aware that he sang the tenor part the first time the work was given in New England. Mr. Beresford has a great deal to sing, but he has made such phenomenal progress in his profession that those who heard him here three years ago, must be prepared to welcome a greater singer than they then heard. The Choral Union is enthusiastic over the work, and are determined to make this concert memorable in every respect. An orchestra of forty-five men, with Mr. Yunk, first violin, will furnish the support. As this is the closing concert of the series, there would seem to be many things to say, but we are confident that nothing can be added to what everyone must feel in looking back upon the concerts given in this course. We can only say that the Choral Union Series of next year will be better than this year, if possible, for this society has determined to move forward, using each success as a stepping stone to something better.

The Unity Club Entertainment.

Last Monday evening the Unity Club gave its last literary entertainment for the year. As an introduction Miss Fletcher, Miss Marion Smith, and Miss Clarken rendered Handel's Largo, arranged for violin, harp and organ. Schubert's Serenade was sung by Miss Sunderland, accompanied by the violin and organ. The principal attraction of the evening, however, was not the music, but Mr. S. M. Bridgman's stereopticon lecture on "Strange scenes and experiences in the wilds of the valley of the River Amazon." Mr. Bridgman was sent out by the Smithsonian Institute, to make collections of pottery from ancient burial places on the north end of Joannes Island, at the mouth of the Amazon, and from a discarded temple on top of the Andes, near the source of the river. The first views shown were scenes in the city of Paca. Then followed views of the homes of the natives and of the magnificent growth of vegetation along the Amazon. The most interesting part of the lecture was an account of a boat ride through the flooded region of Joannes Island to the burial grounds of an ancient tribe of Indians. Here some curious specimens of urns, hoods, and bowls were unearthed. The visit to the ancient temple in the heart of the Andes being very brief on account of hostile natives, the lecturer did little more than show some views of the place. It was made evident, however, that here the antiquarian has a rich field for investigation.

The Freshman Banquet.

The banquet given by the Freshman Independents at Nickel's Hall last night was a very pleasant affair. The hall was prettily decorated with yellow and blue, and with the class colors, brown and white. About forty couples sat down to an excellent banquet, which was followed by a literary programme, as follows: President's Address, J. W. Loeb; Class Oration, R. A. J. Shaw; Class History, J. Raleigh Nelson; Prophecy, Miss Blunt; J. H. Terry officiated as toastmaster. The following toasts were responded to: Our Varsity, J. A. Keating; The College Paper, C. W. Ricketts; The Gym, S. C. Hubbell; The Girls of '94, Ernest

N. Bullock; The Boys of '94, Miss Patton; Brains vs. Economics, Louis A. Strauss.

The banquet began so late that dancing did not begin till two o'clock this morning. The Chaperones were Mrs. Angell, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Trueblood and Mrs. Pettee. The music was furnished by the Chequamegons, while the programmes, which were unusually fine were gotten up by Dreka.

The Ball Team.

The University Base Ball team left at 9:45 last night, in their special car, with the echoes of the Michigan Yell ringing in their ears. Five or six hundred enthusiastic students were at the depot to witness their departure, and for a half-hour before the train moved out, kept up an incessant throat-splitting cheer. The car was attached to the rear of the train and drew out of the depot with the following men aboard: Wilkinson, Rich, Robinson, Bauer, Spitzer, Kelly, Abbott, Booth, Pearson, Seymour, VanNortwick, VanDeventer, and Manager H. T. Abbott. They will be joined at Detroit by Codd, Walsh and E. L. Miller, who goes as special newspaper correspondent. The car is provided with every convenience—sleeping berths, dining room, etc., with porter and cook. The team will make the car their home throughout the trip. The first stop is made to-day, at Utica, N. Y. They arrive there at noon and play a game with Hamilton College, at 3:30. The car will proceed thence to Burlington, Vt., where they meet the University of Vermont team, on Monday. After a night journey to New Haven, the team will meet Yale's heavy sluggers, on Tuesday afternoon. It is not known which of the Yale batteries will be played in this game. A short trip to Hartford, and a game with Trinity, Wednesday. Then to Providence, and a contest with what is considered very generally, the best college team in the east, the Brown University nine. Friday is an open date. It may be filled by Trinity, or Brown, or University of Pennsylvania. It was the original date for a game with Columbia, which has cancelled all its dates for games this season. Saturday, the Michigan boys will play at Middleton, Ct., and on the Monday following meet Harvard, at Cambridge. The tour ends at Boston and the team will return directly. The route is said to be the longest ever traversed by a college base ball team in this country.

The University Minstrels.

Standing room only was the order of the evening last Thursday at the University Minstrels, every seat being sold before the entertainment. The large and enthusiastic audience received with delight every number of the program and the general verdict was that the entertainment had proved a complete success.

The curtain rose upon the conventional setting of the ordinary minstrels, the end men being dressed in yellow and blue. Messrs. Smith, Farrand, Duffy and Park kept the audience in a roar of laughter from the first, the songs by Smith and Park being enthusiastically received. The "Drinking Song," by Mr. Joy, and "Dreams," by Mr. Darrow, were selections of special merit and were excellently rendered. This part of the program concluded with the wonderful dancing Giraffe, in which Messrs. Park and Farrand did some clever work.

The ventriloquism of Mr. Park was, as always, very entertaining. The selections by the Banjo Quintet were hardly as well played as they might have been. The Musical Specialties, by McOmber, Floyd, Clark and Collins were finely done. The tumbling done by Hower and Farrand, was worthy of the greatest commendation, their work being equal to that done by a great many professionals. The after-piece, a burlesque upon a faculty meeting, with the exception of three or four good points, consisted mainly in noise and noise. The Burlesque presents opportunity for some very clever work, but for very evident reason, perhaps it would have hardly done to have made too palpable a hit upon the "powers that be,"—Very clever dancing was done during this number, by Hower and Farrand, in the Skirt Dance.

Taken all in all the performance was one to give the greatest satisfaction to the audience, and reflects great credit upon the management and those interested. It is to be hoped that the next "Minstrels" will occur before four years have elapsed.

New Buildings and Improvements.

With new buildings, and with changes made in the location of departments, the appearance of the Campus will be materially changed during the present season. The plans have not yet been drawn up for the Waternan gymnasium, much less its exact location determined upon, for the purpose is to place the building on the spot most suitable for it. It was first proposed to build the gymnasium in the triangle formed by the main walk and East University Ave., at the south east corner of the Campus. At the request of the committee on buildings and grounds, of which Regent Whitman is chairman, the precise location was left to their discretion, awaiting the plans.

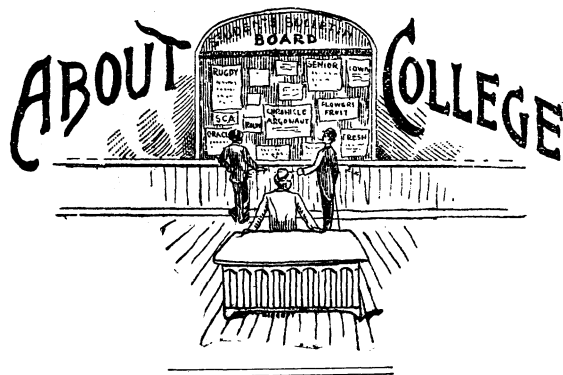

The law building is to be enlarged by an addition, for which an appropriation of $25,000 has been secured. The new part which will be on the north side of the present building, and which will extend some ten feet beyond on the west, will contain four large quiz rooms, and several professors rooms. At present no changes will be made in the old building.

The Dental school will be removed from the building it now occupies, to the present hospital building which will be remodeled at an expense of several thousand dollars. The Dental building thus vacated, will be remodeled and enlarged at a cost of $15,000, for the use of the Engineers. The removal of the Engineers will vacate most of South Wing which will be occupied by those instructors displaced by the enlargement of the botanical and biological laboratories in the North Wing. This general shifting will give improved and increased facilities to all departments involved, and will relieve for a time at least, the pressure caused by the large number of students. In addition, a walk is to be laid on the north side of the Campus, also one on the south side from State Street to the walk in front of the President's house.

The University Holly water system is also to be connected with the city water mains; two boilers are to be added to the boiler house in the eastern part of the Campus.

The contract for building the track on the Athletic Field has been let to Mr. George Leonard of Detroit, builder of the D. A. C. track, as well as of many others. The grand stand contract has been taken by other parties, while the fences will be built by still others. Together with the hospital now building, the additions planned are more extensive than have been for to the University for several years.

College verse is a peculiarly distinctive form of literature. The principles of its construction are as varied as the genius and fancy of the college bard dictates. "It's only a step from the sublime to the ridiculous," is well illustrated in the poetical gems emanating from the pen of the college poet. His productions all start with the pathetic portrayal of some love story, which works the reader up to a lofty pitch and inspires within him high ideas, and purposes, and resolutions to lead a better life, only to drop him at the end into a state of mind which, to say the least, is not sublime. A reader not acquainted with the construction and tendencies of the college student is likely to form the opinion, judging from his poetical effusions, that he is "silly" and soft and has various other such characteristics which are not considered as being essential in the make-up of a man. This however is not the case. Students enjoy a laugh as well as any one else, and the best and surest means for causing mental amusement to the average collegian is by "grinds. Satire and ridicule are sure to make him laugh, hence the college poet must adopt the style of literature he does, in order to write something to please his constituents.

We are being constantly reminded by the fiend, who makes it his especial business to daily give to his friends statistics on the number of weeks, days and hours, since the beginning, and to the close, of the semester, that in about five short weeks another college year will have closed. The Seniors asked such questions as: Have you got a job? Have you obtained a position? Are you located? What are you going to do next year? etc. He begins to realize that his college course is ended, and he asks himself: Do I regret any part of it? Have I improved my opportunities to their full extent? Have I worked as hard and faithfully as I might? Each one must answer these questions for himself, and if he has a general feeling of dissatisfaction, he probably realizes at whose door to lay the blame. If his college course has changed his view of life and eradicated his self conceit, and lowered his opinion as to his own powers and greatness, and brought him to realize the fact that the world is a very large puddle and he is an exceedingly small toad, then his four years have not been spent in vain.

A Philadelphia surgeon thinks he is now qualified to supply a long and universally felt want, as he has discovered a way to paralyze the particular nerves which when diseased, are supposed to cause insanity. If the doctor would carry his investigation a little further and discover a way of paralyzing the nerves that make a man hate to work just at the time when long lessons, essays, reports and examinations are ripe, any college town would be a gold mine for him during May and June.

The New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association, consisting of Amherst, Williams, Dartmouth, Trinity, Vermont, Wesleyan and Worcester, will hold its spring games at Springfield on May 27.

At the Berkley Oval games last Thursday, Herbet Mapes, of Columbia, ran the 120 yards hurdles in 16-2-5 seconds, and Victor Mapes jumped running broad 22 feet 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches, thus breaking the two inter-collegiate records.

At Oberlin it is proposed to convert Field Day into a Grecian Olympiad. It is urged that such a course would not only arouse a greater interest in the sports from an athletic point of view, but would also act as a stimulus to the study of the Greek language and literature in the college.—Ex.

Northwestern University was not "in it" Saturday in a base ball sense as the score of the game between her team and the Michigan nine would indicate. The result was 15 to 3 favoring the U. of M. The game was not by any means an error less one for the home team, but their heavy hitting was effective notwithstanding the fact that McGinnis, the pitcher for the Northwesterns was not a student there at all, but hired from one of the city league teams. Two other members of their team play with Chicago city league nines. A complete record of the game is appended:

Field day is set for next Saturday, May 30. The list of events is larger than usual and the entries promise to be full. Mr. Murphy's training course for the last few weeks has developed considerable interest and some good sports are assured. The fellow who crammed all day Sunday for an examination the next day, justified himself as follows: "If a man is justified for helping an ass out of the pit on the Sabbath day, how much more justified is the ass in trying to help himself out."—Ex.

Among other changes at Brown it is proposed to change from two terms to three in a year, in order to bring vacations between terms, so that the course of study will suffer less interruption. Also it has been suggested that the senior vacation be abolished. In support of the latter change it is urged that the idleness of seniors at examination time is pernicious in its influence upon other students.—Ex.

SHOOTING AT RANDOM.

"Is marriage a failure? is what they now ask,
But poor little Cupid is taken to task.
To blame for the sad fact he must be, of course,
That our courts are so crowded with suits of divorce.

Yet how can you blame him you people who know
How the legends of gods and goddesses go?
For how, I shall ask all the grumblers I find,
Can Cupid shoot straight when he's totally blind?

THE WALL FLOWER.

She was dressed in lace and satin,

Statistics just compiled by Dr. Seaver, the Yale physician, reveal some interesting facts concerning the use of tobacco in the class of '91: In lung capacity the non tobacco users have had an average increase which is 66 per cent. greater than that of the tobacco users. In height the increase has been 20 per cent., and in weight 22 per cent. greater among the non users than among the users.—Ex.

A "CHIP" OF THE OLD BLOCK.

I love to flirt with college boys
 Because they are so nice,
 And when they kiss me once I know
 They're going to kiss me twice.
 And then they have such nice soft hands,
 They don't seem hard and rough When'er they find my own soft hand
 All hidden in my muff.
 Now father says that that's all right,
 And so I'm sure it is.
 You ought to see the photographs
 Of some old girls of his.
 But mother, when she hears of it
 Just lectures me—while pa,
 He takes my side and slyly says
 I learned it all from ma.—Brunonian.

 With a terrific cold in his head,
 And his eyelids heavy and sore,
 The editor sat in his office chair,
 And bitterly, earnestly swore.
 For a "Prep" had come in with a poem.
 Which he had written "just for fun,"
 And a big-headed freshman had told him
 How the paper ought to be run.
 The printer kept calling for copy,
 And he couldn't think of a single line more,
 And this, with a few other reasons,
 Was why the editor swore.
 But the angel who took it to heaven
 Recorded the verdict there;
 "The Jury find in the present case,
 'Twas a justifiable swear.—Ex."

LITERARY NOTES.

 General Sherman, shortly before his death, by written contract, put his memoirs in the hands of Webster & Co., of New York. They, carrying out the spirit of the contract, are about to bring out a cheap edition of his celebrated work; with a brief appendix by the Hon. James G. Blaine, including the closing years of General Sherman's life, his last illness, death and funeral pageant. The work will be in one volume and will contain the full text of the original memoirs. It will be sold at $2.00, all former editions having been sold at $5.00. The proceeds of the work will be devoted to the interests of those whom General Sherman has left dependent for support upon the income of the estate.

 We have recently received from D. C. Heath & Co., a work by Chas. F. Dole, entitled "The American Citizen." This is a brief treatise on political economy, politics and civil government, designed to be placed in the hands of students in the upper grades of grammar schools and high schools.

In the preface the author states that the object of the book is not only to state facts of government and social institutions, but also to illustrate the moral principles, which underlie the life of civilized men.

 Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York, publishers of the American Newspaper Directory and of Printers' Ink, a journal for advertisers—the oldest and best known of all the advertising agencies—conduct their business in such a way as to make it a material benefit to both advertiser and newspaper publisher.

Every one who is in need of information on the subject of advertising will do well to obtain a copy of Geo. P. Rowell & Co's "Book for Advertisers," 368 pages, price one dollar. It is mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price, and contains a careful compilation from the American Newspaper Directory of all the best papers in the United States and Canada. It gives the circulation rating of every one and a good deal of information about rates and other matters pertaining to the business of advertising. Whoever has made himself acquainted with what may be learned from this book will admit that from its pages one may gather pretty much all the information that is needed to perfect an intelligent plan of advertising.
 It is not a complete newspaper directory. It is much better, for although it names barely one-third of the newspapers published, it does enumerate every one of the best and all that a general advertiser is likely to have occasion to use.

A MECHANICAL WONDER. The Decoration Day issue of the Albany N. Y., Telegram will be the most original, unique and popular paper ever presented to the American public. Nothing like it ever attempted by a newspaper in the nineteenth century. As a mechanical wonder and a military literary library there will be nothing to even compare with it issued in this country. It will be printed on red, white and blue paper and consist of sixteen pages. If there is no agent in your town you can have the paper mailed to you at 5 cents a copy.

FOOTPRINTS OF THE WORLD'S HISTORY: It is a relief to pick up a new book that is at once thrilling, romantic, wholesome, pure, and true. Such a work is "Footprints of the World's History," the latest and greatest work of the two celebrated historians, John Clark Ridpath and Wm. S. Bryan. These distinguished gentlemen, having won their laurels by independent writings, have co-operated on this work, and produced a gem "of the purest ray serene." It is not a dry uninteresting statement of the plain facts, but rather each of the most important events of history has been taken up and described by a master of language, who holds the reader entranced as he wends his way along the path of history, following carefully in the footprints of progress. We are delighted with this superb volume. Perfect in thought, superb in style, and magnificent in execution. The bindings are sumptuous, as are also the many illustrations and colored plates. The Publishers have rightly concluded that such a gem should have a rich setting. It is a valuable addition to literature. It is a book for the old as well as the young; the married as well as the single; the gay as well as the grave. Everybody will read it with equal eagerness and profit. It is sold only through agents, and the Publishers' advertisement appears in another column.
